9. USEFUL INFORMATION ABOUT INDONESIA

Indonesia

39. Indonesia is situated between two continents and two oceans. It is the largest archipelagic nation, spread in a 50,000-km-long arc from mainland South East Asia to Papua New Guinea, with more than 80,000 km of coastline and 3.1 million sq km of territorial waters.

40. The geology and landscape of Indonesia is dotted with volcanoes, which were created millions of years ago by the collision of three geodesic plates. The Indonesian archipelagus is covered with thick tropical vegetation and bright-green rice fields, and surrounded by coral reefs. It varies in landscape and climate, from wet and lush in the west, to dry and arid on many of the eastern islands.

41. Migration over centuries and the uneven distribution of economic resources have contributed to a very special cultural mix that is found nowhere else in the world. Standing as the 4th biggest population in the world with 240 million citizens and remarkable cultural diversity, Indonesia welcomes the opportunity to host the Fourth Session of the Governing Body.

42. Bali is one of the country’s 33 provinces with the reputation of being one of the most beautiful and diverse tourist spots in Asia. It is in a chain with Java to the West and Lombok to the East. Bali is also known for its highly developed arts, including dance, sculpture, painting, leather and metalworking, and music. Unlike most of Muslim-majority Indonesia, about 92% of Bali population adheres to Balinese Hinduism, formed as a combination of existing local beliefs and Hindu influences from mainland Southeast Asia and South Asia.

Climate

43. Indonesia’s tropical climate is characterized by hot days and high humidity. In the lowlands the temperature is between 21°C and 33°C and the humidity between 60 and 100 percent. During the wet season, tropical showers and thunderstorms are frequent with rainfall in short, intense burst. In West Indonesia, the wet season is from November to April, and the dry season is from April to October. East Indonesia has no specific wet season, but in general two wet seasons, which differ from place to place.

44. Bali has a tropical climate appropriate to its proximity to the Equator. Year round temperatures average 31 degrees Celsius. High humidity can be expected during the wet season between the months of October and April.

45. The wet season brings daily rain and quiet overcast days with the most rain recorded between December and February. Occasional rainfall can also be expected during the dry season but usually at night or very early morning. The central mountain area is typically cooler than the lower coastal areas, especially at night.

46. These are the average temperature and humidity for the month of March in Bali:

<th>Humidity</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>March</td>
<td>17 / 62 - 29 / 84</td>

</tbody>
</table>

Language

47. About 300 languages are spoken throughout the archipelago. Balinese and Indonesian are the most widely spoken languages in Bali, and many Balinese people are bilingual or even trilingual. The official Indonesian language is called Bahasa Indonesia, a modern variant of Malay which has long served as the lingua franca of trade in Indonesia. English is widely spoken.

Currency

48. The currency unit of Indonesia is the rupiah (Rp). The rupiah comes in coins of 25, 50, 100, 500 and 1,000 and in notes of 1,000, 5,000, 10,000, 20,000, 50,000 and 100,000. The October 2010 currency exchange is approximately USD 1 = 8926 Indonesian rupiah and EUR 1 = 12443 Indonesian rupiah. The currency exchange rate fluctuates regularly. Please check for the latest exchange rates.

49. Major credit cards (Visa, MasterCard, American Express, Diners Club) and traveller’s cheques in main currencies are generally accepted in leading hotels, restaurants, department stores and several large stores. Traveller’s cheques and bank notes in all major currencies may be exchanged at all commercial banks and most hotels and foreign exchange counters. ATMs are also available.

Time

50. Indonesia has three time zones. Sumatra, Java, West and Central Kalimantan are on the West Indonesia Time (GMT +7 hours). Bali, South and East Kalimantan, Sulawesi and Nusa Tenggara are on Central Indonesia Time (GMT +8 hours). Maluku and Irian Jaya are on East Indonesia Time (GMT +9 hours).

Taxes and tipping

51. A government value added tax of 10 percent is charged. It is commonly accepted in big cities to add a charge of 5 percent for service in restaurants.

52. Tipping is not compulsory but highly appreciated, usually at a level of no more than 20 percent.
