

World total fish production in marine waters, 1950-93

After increasing steadily for more than 30 years, the world catch of ocean fish dropped sharply in 1990 and now appears to have peaked at a level between 85 and 90 million tonnes per year. FAO estimates that catches of 70 percent of marine species have reached or exceeded sustainable levels.

