BRAZIL

Brazil thanks to the Drafting Group for the document. We believe that studies must be carried out to assess the impact of the application of this Code of Practice, especially by the industries, which are the key part of this process. Brazil also would like to help sending a reference, which contains data on the presence of acrylamide in Brazilian foods: "Determination of acrylamide levels in selected foods in Brazil". It will be available on line in Food Additives and Contaminants in the next weeks.
