Background

1. This document compiles comments received through the Codex Online Commenting System (OCS) in response to CL 2024/12/FH issued in January 2024. Under the OCS, comments are compiled in the following order: general comments are listed first, followed by comments on specific sections.

Explanatory notes on the appendix

2. The comments submitted through the OCS are hereby attached as Annex I and are presented in table format.

Annex I

GENERAL COMMENTS

COMMENT	MEMBER / OBSERVER
Australia supports the recommendations of the paper, that this alignment work is prioritised, divided and integrated into the future work plan; and that a standing working group be established to consider how alignment, priority setting, and integrating this into the work plan can be done. We would support further consideration of a hybrid and flexible approach.	Australia
Under section 4. Recommendations: 4.1 - i. The work is prioritized, divided, and integrated into the future work plan General comment: Full structural alignment is prioritized for all texts that need it. Documents being revised or drafted should follow structural and technical alignment. Work is undertaken to technically align text that are not being revised on a priority basis.	Canada
Kenya notes that the discussion paper is in good faith and it gives guidance on the alignment of codex texts, and uniformity of structure, and facilitates cross-referencing where necessary.	Kenya

SPECIFIC COMMENTS

OPTION 1, OPTION 2, OPTION 3
General comment:	Canada
Option 1 does not seem sufficient.
Option 2 would allow structural alignment and can be achieved in a reasonable time.
Option 3 would require considerable time investment. Technical alignment of the texts can be prioritized according to agreed criteria.
Opción 3 – Armonización estructural y técnica completa con CXC 1-1969 Es la más adecuada para utilizar.	Colombia
As indicated by the United Kingdom, the EUMS consider that a full alignment is not intuitive and may require substantial resources from the Codex members. In addition, texts are regularly completely revised and such revision may be used to provide a full structural and technical alignment with CXC 1-1969. The EUMS therefore: - agree to prioritize, divide and integrate the work into the future work plan; - support the creation of a standing working group; - prefer Option 1 at this stage (a simple alignment). Rationale: 'In the absence of metrics on usage, considerable time could be used updating little used texts following an Option 2 or 3 approach and this would detract from the capacity of CCFH to progress work more important to the protection of public health. The EUMS don't feel it is appropriate to add new text into these documents during an alignment exercise unless the documents were fully revised following the full CCFH procedure based on priority. If there are concerns about differing definitions,	European Union then a general text could be added that flags the presence of a new definition in the General Principles of Hygiene text and notes that it supersedes the original definition.

Prefer option 1, considering the workload. Further alignment should be considered, when the revision of the existing document is taken up for new work.	Japan
Kenya takes note of the three options:	Kenya option 1 is simple and offers drafters room to tailor the subheadings to the specific area of focus, however, this flexibility may pose a challenge in text alignment;
Option 2 gives clear elaboration of the texts structurally, similar to Option 3; and,
Option 3, in addition also offers both technical and structural alignment. However, some of the guidelines may have unique structures and can be exempted from the three options. Therefore, Kenya proposes the implementation of Option 3 for alignment of all current and future CCFH texts where applicable.
The current standards need to be updated accordingly with the revised CXC 1-1969. Malaysia prefers Option 2 on full structural alignment as most of current standards are already formatted with cross alignment text to CXC 1-1969.	Malaysia
Perú considera la revisión con enfoque más metódico que, asegure una armonización plena (estructura y contenido), lo que involucra la OPCIÓN 3	Peru
The Russian Federation would choose Option 2.	Russian Federation

Appendix C – Example of Full Structural Alignment (Annexes to CXG 73-2010 are not included in this example)
In case CCFH54 decides to proceed with option 2, the following replies are provided to the questions in Appendix C: o As a general comment, the EUMS would like to indicate that they appreciate the inclusion of an example by the United Kingdom, but the example of Vibrio in Seafood might be the best example since a full revision is ongoing; the answers provided below should be considered for future management of texts, not under revision, while for Vibrio in Seafood, a full structural and technical revision should be considered;	European Union
Argentina prefers option A	Argentina
Australia consider option a) as the preferred option for this initial alignment work.	Australia
Option a is preferred and seems more appropriate for existing text. The text in the General Principles of Food Hygiene (CXC 1-1969) is likely applicable and sufficient for the existing CCFH documents that follow the structure of the GPFH. It would be more appropriate to add new wording specific to the text being aligned, as necessary, during the revision of those documents instead of during the alignment exercise.	Canada
En primera instancia se puede realizar una simple referencia cruzada a los Principios generales de higiene de los alimentos (CXC 1-1969) para mantener la armonización de los títulos, siempre y cuando el texto aplique, de lo contrario, se debe modificar el texto con una redacción específica para el documento que se está armonizando.	Colombia
Ecuador considera que la mejor opción sería la b) para tener mayor claridad al momento de leer el documento.	Ecuador
The EUMS prefer option a)	European Union
Japan prefers option a). However, just adding headings to align the structure with the GPFH may not be necessary depending on the nature of the existing document, and it is not adding any value. Chapeau sentence like "Some sections in the GPFH may also be helpful, and it is advised to read this document in conjunction with the GPFH."	Japan
Comment. Kenya proposes the adoption of option (a). Justification: It will reduce bulkiness and confusion. It's also in alignment with other codex texts.	Kenya
Question 1 - Prefer Option (b). Do it once, do it well.	New Zealand
Respecto a la pregunta 1. Perú considera pertinente se considere la opción a), por ser lineamientos generales para mantener la inocuidad de los alimentos; responsabilidades, entre otros que son de interés para los OEA	Peru
For Russian Federation Option a) is more preferable	Russian Federation
Saudi Arabia deems option (a) to be more appropriate.	Saudi Arabia
Option "a" is more appropriate but we have to add "In addition for more detiles base on the nature of text object"	United Arab Emirates
Uruguay considera que esta opción a) sería la más adecuada, sin embargo, en el caso de requerirlo se podría agregar nueva redacción específica según se considere.	Uruguay

Question 1- The United States believes that a simple cross-reference would be sufficient.	USA
Argentina suggests new wording specific to the text being aligned is created	Argentina
If it is considered necessary to provide more detail than what is given in CXC 1-1969, then this should be identified and wording drafted as part of this process. The guiding principle remains that the purpose of this activity is alignment of texts, creating consistency across the texts and not altering the standards themselves.	Australia
Agree that a reference to Section 7 of CXC 1-1969 is appropriate as a first step. Additional information can be added (as necessary) once the text is undergoing technical review.	Canada
Colocar la referencia cruzada a la Sección 7 de CXC 1-1969 y dependiendo del tipo de documento que se esté armonizando adicionar información de los puntos que se consideren pertinentes y específicos del mismo.	Colombia
Ecuador considera que por la importancia de esta sección no sería adecuado incorporar una referencia cruzada a la Sección 7 de CXC 1-1969, sino una redacción específica para el texto que se está armonizando.	Ecuador
The EUMS consider that a simple cross reference is sufficient.	European Union
Yes, Japan believes that simple cross-reference would be sufficient	Japan
Comment: Kenya proposes that a text that will be in line with section 7 be developed, rather than simply cross-referencing to CXC 1- 1969 Justification: While developing the guideline, some products may have unique requirements in their application, and thus further guidance is required, whereas CXC 1- 1969 is general.	Kenya
Cross reference is fine. Provided they are hyperlinked for easy access. Minimise duplication and only include additional requirements that are not in CXC 1-1969.	New Zealand
Respecto a la pregunta 2. Perú considera que no debe considerarse una simple referencia cruzada a la Sección 7 de CXC 1-1969, sino incorpore una nueva redacción específica para cada Directriz	Peru
Russian Federation believes that the inclusion of reference is enough.	Russian Federation
Saudi Arabia suggest the following: it is appropriate to include CXC 1-1969 as a cross reference to Section 7.	Saudi Arabia
Yes	United Arab Emirates
Uruguay considera que una simple referencia no es suficiente en este punto tan importante	Uruguay
If the Committee chooses Option 3 (full structural and technical alignment with CXC 1-1969), then the alignment work could consider discussion of Good Hygiene Practices (GHPs) that may require greater attention, and support additional text as appropriate. If the Committee chooses Options 1 or 2 (Simple alignment and Full structural alignment, respectively), then such considerations and potential added text would be out of scope.	USA

Argentina suggests a simple cross-reference	Argentina
To minimise repetition and avoid issues with maintaining text across multiple documents should CXC 1-1969 be amended further, a simple cross-reference is considered sufficient and to future proof against additional work.	Australia
A cross-reference is sufficient and the preferred option, this would allow alignment with CXC 1-1969. Elaboration of new text would become a revision of the text and this is not the goal at this time.	Canada
Donde corresponda sería suficiente con una simple referencia cruzada, sin embargo, podría existir la necesidad de justificar alguna sesión de manera específica según naturaleza del documento	Colombia
Elaborar textos con los "Objetivos" y la "Justificación" de cada sección, como en CXC 1-1969.
Ecuador considera que debe estar redactada los textos con los "Objetivos" y la "Justificación" de cada sección.	Ecuador
"Objectives" might be useful to introduce a section; a "Rationale" is normally not introduced systematically for control measures, being available in the scientific basis of the control measures (e.g. JEMRA reports);	European Union
Japan believes that simple cross-reference would be sufficient	Japan
Comment: A simple reference to section 8 is sufficient. Justification: Elaboration in this section is adequate.	Kenya
Question 3 - As above. Simple cross ref.	New Zealand
-Perú considera que para el caso bastaría una simple referencia cruzada	Peru
The Russian Federation believes that the simple cross reference is enough	Russian Federation
Saudi Arabia suggest that a single cross reference is sufficient.	Saudi Arabia
It's good to elaborate "Objectives" and "Rationale	United Arab Emirates
Uruguay entiende en general que es suficiente una simple referencia. Sin embargo cuando se considere puede requerir elaborar el texto con los objetivos y la justificación de cada sección.	Uruguay
The United States believes that a simple cross-reference would be sufficient.	USA
Wording should be "Is it necessary" not "It is necessary" to make the sentence into a question. In answer to the question, a simple cross-reference should be sufficient.	ICUMSA
Argentina agrees with a full review	Argentina
The alignment work should focus on making the changes for alignment, not changing the standards themselves. Reviewing existing text will potentially delay this work and prevent completion for many years. Australia's preference is to focus on the alignment, and it is not necessary to	Australia

We suggest a single cross reference to main section	Argentina
Yes, the review should be done to determine if further information needs to be added.	ICUMSA
The United States believes that it is a necessary part of alignment to review paragraphs of texts and determine whether the information included, in addition to the reference of CXC 1-1969, is beneficial to the text. The United States believes this to fall under Option 3 above (full structural and technical alignment with CXC 1-1969). If the Committee chooses Options 1 or 2 (Simple alignment and Full structural alignment, respectively), then this level of review would be out of scope.	USA
Uruguay considera que es necesario revisar los párrafos del texto y determinar si la información que figura en ellos beneficia al texto, además de la referencia a CXC 1-1969 Rev 2022	Uruguay
We agreed with same wording in paragraph 41 to start with the reference to CXC 1- 1969 then to give the explanation based on the object topic.	United Arab Emirates
Saudi Arabia recommends reviewing the paragraphs of text to determine if the information is beneficial to the text.	Saudi Arabia
To our mind, such work is necessary	Russian Federation
Respecto a la pregunta 4. Perú considera se evalúe si la información que figura en ellos beneficia al texto, además de la referencia a CXC 1-1969. Tómese en cuenta que cada Directriz específica debe establecer o mencionar los riesgos específicos de cada actividad productiva considerando su finalidad como Directriz.	Peru
Yes beneficial to review the text.	New Zealand
Comment: Kenya proposes the adoption of a simple reference to CXC 1 1969. Justification: The text in CXC 1 1969 is adequate to take care of other illnesses that could be as a result of other biological hazards.	Kenya
No. Japan believes that level of details should be considered when we revise each specific text, not as part of alignment work. Further alignment should be considered when the revision of the existing document is taken up for new work.	Japan
In this option, the content of paragraphs should not be amended or deleted even if repetitions are detected as this might trigger discussions on the content.	European Union
Ecuador considera que como parte del trabajo de armonización si es necesario revisar los párrafos del texto además de la referencia a CXC 1-1969 para contar con un documento completo y preciso.	Ecuador
Sí es necesario revisar los párrafos del texto para determinar si la información que figura en ellos beneficia al texto, los cuales se podría incluir como casos y ejemplos aplicados al documento, además de colocar la referencia cruzada de CXC 1-1969.	Colombia
If the document is currently being revised by an electronic working group, than the review of the text can be done at the same time and modified as necessary. However, for text that are not currently under revision, this is not the preferred option.	Canada review existing text. A review of text could be done as part of a separate technical review and update of the specific text. We further note in the example given, the reference to V. cholerae is an important point in the Vibrio guidelines that would be unique to these guidelines.

A single reference would remove the duplication that is caused by separately inserting the same cross reference for each element - it could also make scanning the document for any additional information to what is in CXC 1-1969 quicker.	Australia
A single cross-reference to the main section is sufficient. Listing all the sub-heading when there is no specific information related to those headings is unnecessary. It seems that more recent CCFH documents have moved away from listing all headings from the GPFH when there is no specific information to be included and this seems appropriate since the USE section of each document already mention that the document should be used in conjunction with the GPFH and other Codes of Practice.	Canada
Es necesario enumerar cada subtítulo de las secciones y realizar referencia cruzada específica en cada caso.	Colombia
Ecuador considera que como parte del trabajo de armonización se debe enumerar cada subtítulo de dichas secciones con la finalidad de que lectores encuentren los puntos clave del documento.	Ecuador
In each section (11 and 12) there should be a cross-reference, similar to the double cross-reference in the current guidelines.	European Union
Single cross reference would be sufficient.	Japan
Comment: Kenya proposes the adoption of the alignment work to list out each sub-heading in such sections and provide a specific cross-reference to CXC 1-1969 in each case rather than the single cross-reference to the main section is sufficient. Justification: It gives a better guide to the user.	Kenya
Question 5 - A single cross reference is sufficient unless there is additional text for a subhead. Then include that subheading only.	New Zealand
Respecto a la pregunta 5. Perú considera enumerar cada subtítulo de dichas secciones y realizar una referencia cruzada específica a CXC 1-1969 en cada caso	Peru
The Russian Federation believes cross reference is sufficient	Russian Federation
Saudi Arabia recommends to cross reference CXC 1-1969 in each sub-headings (section VI and Section VII).	Saudi Arabia
Uruguay entiende que sería necesario referenciarlo en cada sección (título) y no es necesario en cada subtítulo	Uruguay
The United States believes that if there is no additional information for any sub-headings underneath a main heading, then a simple reference to CXC 1-1969 under the main heading should suffice. For clarity, additional text could be provided in such as case, for example "For this section, including all sub-sections, refer to Section X.X of the General Principles of Food Hygiene (CXC 1-1969). This approach would promote readability of Codex texts and avoid excessive and repetitive cross-references.	USA
No, a single cross reference should be sufficient.	ICUMSA
Argentina doesn't agree	Argentina
Could a reference to CXG100-2023 be made in the early part of the texts, such as in the 'Use' titled section 4, (paragraph 25 in the Vibrio text example) to alert the reader to this guidance on water use and reuse. Then no need to make further references to it throughout the document text.	Australia
Yes, potentially. For the Vibrio electronic working group to assess.	Canada
Se debe colocar la referencia cruzada del documento "Directrices para el uso y la reutilización inocuos del agua en la producción y elaboración de alimentos (CXG 100-2023)".	Colombia

Ecuador considera que también es necesario realizar la armonización con las Directrices para el uso y la reutilización inocuos del agua en la producción y elaboración de alimentos.	Ecuador
Yes there should be a cross-reference to CXG 100-2023. There is no need for other cross-references or recommendations in this Section on water. Cross-references to agreed CCFH texts avoid opening discussion on content and is therefore prudent.	European Union
Instead of aligning to all the documents developed, it is preferred to have a simple reference.	Japan
Comment: Kenya proposes that it is necessary to ensure alignment with the Guidelines for the Safe Use and Reuse of Water in Food Production and Processing (CXG 100-2023) which was adopted at the 46th session of the Codex Alimentarius Commission Justification: The new guideline is well structured and has adequate information.	Kenya
Any cross refs should be aligned.	New Zealand
Respecto a la pregunta 6. Perú considera que si es necesario la armonización de las Directriz CXG 100-2023 con CXC 1-1969, toda vez que los temas que se tocan en la directriz son diferentes y no tienen relación entre si:	Peru
Anexo I productos frescos
Anexo II: Pescado y productos pesqueros
Anexo III: Producción de leche y productos lácteos
Anexo IV: Tecnologías de recuperación y tratamiento del agua para su reutilización
We believe it is necessary	Russian Federation
Yes, it is.	Saudi Arabia
It could be use as sub-reference for more appropriate option	United Arab Emirates
Uruguay considera que se debería realizar la armonización con las Directrices para el uso y la reutilización inocuos del agua en la producción y elaboración de alimentos (CXG 100-2023)	Uruguay
The United States believes that alignment with CXG 100-2023 would ensure consistency of definitions regarding water and this level of alignment would be supported if the Committee chooses Option 3 (Full structural and technical alignment with CXC 1-1969). If the Committee chooses Options 1 or 2 (Simple alignment and Full structural alignment, respectively), then this additional alignment with CXG 100-2023 would be out of scope.	USA
Yes, alignment to CXG 100-2023 should be part of the alignment work.	ICUMSA

Argentina prefers option 2	Argentina
Option 2 would make it clear which elements of CXC 1-1969 have no additional considerations for the purposes of the document that is being cross referenced. There are gaps in this case, but only because no additional requirements/considerations were needed over and above those already in CXC 1-1969.	Australia

Argentina prefers option 1	Argentina
Australia supports Option 2, where the existing EWG that is revising, or will revise according to the CCFH future work plan, will complete the alignment work as part of their work on the text. This would allow the alignment work to then focus on other texts that are not currently in the work plan.	Australia
Option 2 seems reasonable. It would assure that the technical revisions take into account wording from CXC 1-1969 and help eliminate duplication.	Canada
Opción 2 – El trabajo de armonización se realiza en el GTE existente El trabajo de armonización se llevaría a cabo como parte de la planificación de la revisión técnica en el GTE existente, y cualquier cambio necesario como resultado de la armonización se comunicaría junto con las revisiones técnicas.	Colombia

Ecuador considera que la mejor opción sería la 1, ya que el grupo actual conoce los temas desarrollados y podría realizar aportes más precisos que un nuevo grupo.	Ecuador
As indicated, a full alignment should only be considered with a full revision of the text; option 2 is therefore preferred.	European Union
It depends on CCFH's conclusions to the previous questions on how complex the alignment work be, but Japan prefers option 2	Japan
Comment: Kenya proposes the adoption of option 2. Justification: Since there is an already existing EWG, it will make the alignment of text easier.	Kenya
Option 1. Hopefully this would ensure the best consistency with CXC.	New Zealand
The Russian Federation prefers option 2	Russian Federation
Option 2: work on alignment within existing EWG	Saudi Arabia
Uruguay considera que la opción 2 es la más adecuada	Uruguay
For Codex texts that are being revised or are included in the CCFH forward work plan, the United States believes that alignment work would be undertaken as part of the technical revision planning within the existing EWG and any changes required as a result of alignment would be reported alongside technical revisions.	USA
Option 2	ICUMSA
Argentina doesn't have a position on this matter, it considers that this point can be defined when the discussion progresses during the 54th CCFH meeting.	Argentina
Noting the staged/hybrid approach suggested above, priorities could be set based on members 'voting' for those texts they consider should be priority for alignment. If Option 1 (update all cross-references to GPFH) was done first, each text could be evaluated at that point and a decision made about the priority for further work and whether option 2 or 3 type work was required.	Australia
Most of the headings and sub-headings in the new GPFH document have similar titles compared to the previous version, but the numbers have changed because of the restructuration of the document. Therefore, perhaps a note could be added on the main page of each document to inform users of this change. This note could be added simultaneously on all documents and then the remaining alignment steps could be done afterwards. The approach could be to prioritize the guidelines that are most viewed and/or the age of the guidelines.	Canada
La prioridad se podría establecer de acuerdo con el nivel de riesgo para causar ETA, la gravedad de enfermedad que ocasionan y por criterio de antigüedad, pero también de la velocidad de generación de datos científicos alrededor de la temática en cuestión	Colombia
Ecuador considera que para establecer prioridades entre los textos que no forman parte del plan de trabajo futuro se podría seguir el criterio de la antigüedad.	Ecuador
The normal criteria for the revision of texts should be considered; texts with a low priority for revision, should nevertheless be considered for revision after a number of years when the bulk of other revisions are finalised and at that stage CCFH may decide on a full revision (including content) or an option 3 revision.	European Union
Japan believes that no new mechanism is necessary. For those that have not completed alignment, criterion for new work "inconsistency with existing codes" will be YES.	Japan

P2 Step 1 criteria Process by which the Codex Committee on Food Hygiene (CCFH) will undertake its work (fao.org)
Comment: Kenya proposes the approach of prioritizing text to be based on age and current/ emerging issues of importance. Justification: This is a systematic approach that takes into account emerging and pressing issues.	Kenya
How much it is used/referred to followed by how out of alignment it is.	New Zealand
We believe that age of texts should be taken into account while prioritizing texts	Russian Federation
Saudi Arabia recommends that the age of the text be the base to prioritize the forward work plan since older documents may need to be aligned with the recent adopted texts.	Saudi Arabia
We suggest that priorities be arrange according to the important of texts and the extent of it's spead in international trade.	United Arab Emirates
Uruguay entiende debería priorizarse de acuerdo a la relevancia, a las necesidades técnicas y los avances científicos.	Uruguay
The United States would prefer prioritizing texts which were most recently adopted but notes that it is more important to be consistent with whichever prioritization method is chosen.	USA
Prioritising on the basis of age is a simple option but flexibility would need to be considered, if problems with newer texts are reported (pushing them up the priority list over older documents)	ICUMSA
