

ANNEX 1

IDENTIFICATION

SARD Initiative Good Practices
Workshop - 2 November 2005

By Whom?	How to find?	How to recognise?
You and your own best knowledge	Ask local people	Lots of farmers doing it and it is ecologically sustainable
End users / ask your friends	Look in diverse places	Practice has been replicated by others
Farmers and farmers' groups	Discussions, interviews	Activity that provides more goods at local level
Women's groups	Google	Activity that provides more jobs for more people
Local communities	Peer-reviewed literature	Generates income, employment and environmental services
Community members (leaders and non-leaders)	Other literature	Well-conceived / scientifically profound
Extension	It works - identified by practitioners	Observed, tested, validated
NGOs	It works in a minimum of settings for a defined time	Documented
Networks	Through FAO	Define criteria
Researchers who work with farmers in a collective manner		Good practices for what?
Experts		What is good?
Universities / schools		Contextual relations
Faith community (priests, religious leaders)		People
Government / Politicians		Places
Policy makers		Methods
		Local Satisfaction
		Local investments being made
		Local efforts to expand
		It meets some if not all expectations of the end user