

- We absolutely agree with the importance of data and monitoring progress for women
- We also agree that the role of women across all aspects of the value chain, from production to marketing and processing and leadership roles at all levels of government and civil society and the private sector must be included
- Closing the digital divide for women and gaps for women in access to finance should be included as well as gender-based violence's impacts on food security and nutrition
- The importance of girls and young women must also be emphasized.
