Gross Domestic Product per capita (in PPP US$)	Gross domestic product, in Purchasing Power Parity (PPP) terms in US dollars, divided by midyear population. Gross domestic product at purchaser prices is the sum of gross value added by all resident producers in the economy plus any product taxes (less subsidies) not included in the valuation of output. It is calculated without deducting for depreciation of fabricated capital assets or for depletion and degradation of natural resources. Value added is the net output of an industry after adding up all outputs and subtracting intermediate inputs. Gross National Income per capita	Gross national income, converted to US dollars using the World Bank Atlas method, divided by the midyear population. Gross national income is the sum of value added by all resident producers plus any product taxes (less subsidies) not included in the valuation of output plus net receipts of primary income (compensation of employees and property income) from abroad. Gross National Income, calculated in national currency, is usually converted to US dollars at official exchange rates for comparisons across economies, although an alternative rate is used when the official exchange rate is judged to diverge by an exceptionally large margin from the rate actually applied in international transactions. To smooth fluctuations in prices and exchange rates, a special Atlas method of conversion is used by the World Bank. This applies a conversion factor that averages the exchange rate for a given year and the two preceding years and is adjusted for differences in rates of inflation between the country, and certain highly industrialised countries. For the years up to 2000, the latter countries were France, Germany, Japan, the United Kingdom, and the United States. For 2001, these countries were expanded to include the Euro Zone, Japan, the United Kingdom, and the United States.
