INTRODUCTION

The 2007 UNICEF Hotel Directory is a listing of hotels offering special rates to staff of UN Agencies. The material is a compilation of prices negotiated by UNICEF Travel and Transportation Services, UNICEF Field Offices, and our distinguished colleagues in various U.N. Agencies named in our Acknowledgements page for their contribution. Our special thanks again to the Operations and Administrative Officers who participated in this project.

Prices contained are not necessarily guaranteed, but should be used as a working guideline. Some hotels listed have room rates higher than the accommodation portion of the DSA. Use of these hotels does not authorize a higher DSA, hotel overage allowances, or supplementary DSA on travel claim. UN Identification cards should be presented upon check-in.

For any updates, information, suggestions, or queries, please contact Mr. Nicholas Lananna, Chief, Travel and General Services, UNICEF NYHQ, H-5A.

Thank you and best wishes.

Division of Financial & Administrative Management

Important Travel Information

Booking Tips:

Most hotels now require a credit card to guarantee a reservation. Upon booking, ensure you are provided with the cancellation and early departure policies. Some properties require 24 hour notice for cancellation and charge early departure fee. If you do not use the room without cancelling within the agreed-upon period, the hotel will charge your credit card.

When making a reservation or cancellation, make sure to get a confirmation and/or cancellation number. Repeat the price to the reservations clerk and also obtain the person's name. Ask if there are any additional taxes, surcharges, costs (i.e. maid services, fitness club fees, etc). If you find these added to your bill upon check-out, ask to have them removed. If you are refused, speak to the Manager.

It is always advisable to reconfirm in advance. Keep a copy of your confirmation.

General Security:

Follow the recommendations of the Operations/Travel Staff in Field Offices. They are familiar with the properties and will recommend the most secure ones.

Wherever you travel, the following points are useful for your consideration:

- Make sure you are aware of all the emergency exits and escape routes after you check-in to the room.
- Try to stay in hotels with smoke alarms and sprinkler systems.
- Do not open your door to anyone — even hotel personnel, without verifying with the Front Desk by phone first.
- If anyone calls you "in an 'emergency'" and tells you to go somewhere on behalf of UNICEF, do NOT go. Call the Operations/ Security Officer, first. (there have been several cases like this in recent years).
- Keep a charged cellular phone in your room, if possible.
- A plastic door-stop is available in most hardware stores, which makes it more difficult to force the door open. However, this may also hinder quick egress in case of fire.
- Again, if possible, stay in a hotel where the door opens on the inside of the corridor. (Unlike many motels, with a door facing the parking lot).
- Of course, make sure the doors are double-locked when available.

- Choose hotels that have increased security measures such remote passenger drop-off sites, 24-hour Security Personnel, security cameras and perimeter fencing.
- Choose hotels that do not have attached garage.
- If possible, visitors should stay on the 7th or 8th Floors of the hotel. These floors are high enough and will not likely be affected by a car bomb, but are low enough to allow for evacuation should something occur.
- Reserve a room on a side of the hotel that cannot be approached easily by a vehicle.
- When uncertain, especially at night, ask the hotel staff to accompany you to your vehicle.
- It is usually safer to dine in the hotel at night, rather than wander about town alone.
- Do not carry large amounts of cash, jewellery, or wear clothes that advertises affluence.
- Use taxis arranged by the hotel or the office. Do not hail taxis on the street.
- Trust your instincts! If something feels uncomfortable, extricate yourself quickly and quietly.
