Reflection of Day 2

FAO Sub-Regional workshop on sex-disaggregated data in agriculture and rural development for southeast asian countries

What we liked

- Country presentations were useful
- Country presentation gave a different background of information from diverse participant
- Discussion provided more knowledge on what other indicators that can be generated which is applicable for policy reform agenda
- Communication exercise made clear the possible risks in data collection and it was easy to understand

- Compared with Day 1, more exercises , discussion and good examples were presented

- More active discussion and participation from the participants

- Group work provided the opportunity to discuss the common issues on gender statistics

Room for improvement

- Room is still cold!

- Time management

- After the group exercises, it is better to summarize the findings and explain

- Country presentations should include summaries

- More time for country presentation should be allocated

- More comments on the presentation are needed
- Would like to know more about follow-up survey after AC which Mr Castano explained in presentation on Day 1
- Would like to learn more in detail about the methodology of agricultural sampling survey
