Second meeting of the Regional Steering Committee for Asia and the Pacific for the Global Strategy to Improve Agricultural and Rural Statistics

*1 November 2013,
Bangkok, Thailand*

Background

The Global Strategy to Improve Agricultural and Rural Statistics initiative is the outcome of a three-year effort initiated by the UN Statistical Commission and supported in the Asia Pacific region by the Asian Development Bank (ADB), the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO), and the United Nations Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific (UNESCAP); as well as national statistics offices, agricultural ministries, and other government and private institutions producing and using agricultural statistics in the region.

Members for the Steering Group for Agricultural Statistics (SGAS) in Asia Pacific in early 2012 drafted a Regional Action Plan for the Asia Pacific region under the Global Strategy initiative with the objective to not only rebuild statistical systems producing agricultural statistics, but also to meet the emerging data requirements and the need to monitor cross-cutting issues. This Regional Action Plan for Asia and the Pacific has since been endorsed by the Asia and Pacific Commission on Agricultural Statistics (APCAS) at its twenty-fourth session in October 2012 (RAP Publication 2012/22) and subsequently, by the ESCAP Committee on Statistics at its third session in December 2012 (E/ESCAP/CST(3)/17, decision 3/6), and finally by the Global Steering Committee on 26 February 2013.

As part of the first phase of technical activities being carried out in Asia Pacific under this Action Plan in 2013, an initial set of countries was endorsed by the Regional Steering Committee for Asia Pacific in its first meeting on April 9-10, 2013. It was agreed upon by members of the Regional Steering Committee that regular meetings would be held at least biannually to monitor and provide further guidance to the implementation process.
