Summary of Duties and Functions

The FAO Agriculture and Consumer Protection Department (AG) is at the centre of FAO's technical expertise in agriculture and consumer protection, providing expert advice and contributing to the development of policies, regulatory frameworks, strategies and guidelines in support of FAO's strategic objectives and the UN's Sustainable Development Goals. In a holistic manner, the AG Department works with partners to provide advisory and technical services to FAO Members, assisting them in capacity development with a focus on improving the productivity and livelihoods of smallholders and family farmers. The Department is responsible for the Organization's programmes, in particular, in the following areas: Conservation and sustainable use of crop and livestock genetic resources; Sustainable crop production intensification; Livestock production and the environment; Animal health; Agroecology, ecosystem services and agro-biodiversity; Farmer field schools; Agricultural biotechnologies; Antimicrobial resistance; Food chain crisis - prevention and control of transboundary plant and animal pests and diseases; Food safety and quality, including the joint FAO/WHO Codex Alimentarius; Nuclear techniques in agriculture through the FAO/IAEA Joint Division; International Plant Protection Convention; Integrated pest and pesticide management; Agricultural innovation systems and rural advisory services; Sustainable agricultural mechanization; and Urban agriculture and food systems for cities.

The Assistant Director-General in particular will:

- advise the Director-General, through the Deputy Director-General - Climate and Natural Resources (DDN), on matters of strategy, policy and other subjects relating to the Department's mandate and activities;
- ensure the collection, analysis and dissemination of data and information and the development of policies, strategies and guidelines in the Department's field of competence;
- ensure the servicing of the biennial sessions of the Committee on agriculture (COAG);
- ensure the visibility of standard setting and food safety components;
- exercise overall management responsibility for all activities in the Department, so as to ensure technical inputs and contributions to the delivery of the relevant outputs of the FAO Strategic Programmes;
- provide leadership in the development of global and/or regional initiatives under the FAO Strategic Framework and the Country Programme Frameworks;
- cooperate with the FAO Strategic Programme teams in the planning, budgeting, implementation and reporting of the Department's programme of work and provide guidance and support on budgetary, financial, human resources and other administrative matters at the departmental level;
- participate in the implementation of FAO's decentralization strategy, as appropriate;
- participate in and support the implementation of the corporate resource mobilization strategy;
- coordinate departmental inputs to FAO's Governing Body sessions and monitor and address the decisions and recommendations in its fields of competence;
- represent the Organization, as appropriate, at technical and inter-agency meetings in the Department's field of activity.
