

Annex 3 - Profiles of the Evaluation team members

Ms Marcia Brewster, US national, team leader, holds a MSc in Development Economics and has worked for over 30 years in the UN system, mostly for UNDESA and ESCAP. Her professional experience relates to the field of water, natural resources management and gender issues. She has written a number of technical publications dealing with Gender Perspectives in Water Resources and Sanitation.

Ms Tullia Aiazzi, Italian, Evaluation Manager and Senior Evaluation Officer. She joined FAO Office of Evaluation in 2003, holds a MSc in Agricultural and Rural Development and has more than 20 years of professional experience in development related issues, including institutional and gender issues and evaluation.

Mr Bernd Bultemeier, German, Evaluation Officer with FAO's Office of Evaluation since 2000. He holds a MA in Rural Sociology and has more than 20 years of work experience in agricultural extension, project management and project operations.

Mr Anthony Chibudu, Kenyan, holds a MSc in Agricultural Economics and has over than 20 years experience in agricultural extension and livestock production. He has been working as a District and Regional Service Unit Coordinator, working in the Government of Kenya Agricultural Extension office and involved more in donor-funded project management/coordination.

Ms Esther De Jong holds a MS in social aspects of irrigation with a special focus on gender issues and counts on more than 15 years of experience in this field. She has been developing projects and cooperation activities with several institutions worldwide. Since 2006 she has been working for the Gender and Water Alliance, currently in the capacity of deputy director.

Ms Beatrice Gerli, Italian, Evaluation Assistant, holds a MSc in Economics and Management, with a focus on development policies and public-private partnerships. She has been working for the UN system in Latin America and for the EC, joining the FAO Office of Evaluation in 2010 as a research assistant.

Dr Mariame Maiga, Ivorian citizen, holds a PhD in Rural Development Sociology at the Wageningen University and Research Centre, with a background in Sociology and Philosophy. She has more than 10 years of work experience and active involvement in the field of gender mainstreaming in rural context, including HIV/AIDS and food security.

Ms Emily Obonyo-Kamau, Kenyan, is a sociologist and holds a MSc in Agroforestry. She has been working for about 15 years as a research scientist, mainly in the Kenya Forestry Research Institute-, supporting projects in the field of natural resources, forest governance and the impact of forest policies on communities.

Ms Karla Priego, Mexican, holds a MSc in Gender and Women Studies and has been working as a consultant for over 10 years in the field of gender equality and climate change, throughout the Latin American region. She has also supported the development of gender strategies in the Ministry of Environment of Mexico and Mozambique.

Mrs Vasudha Pangare, Indian is a gender and social development expert. She holds an MSc in Social Work. She has been working as an independent social development consultant for almost 20 years. Until recently she was the Hon Director of the World Water Institute, Pune, Maharashtra, India She has more than 15 years of professional experience in water-related social and gender issues, with extensive experience in India and Asia.

Professor Roderick Stirrat, UK national, is a Professor of Anthropology at the University of Sussex and a social development consultant with over 30 years experience in the developing world. Much of his work has been concerned with the natural resources sector, and particularly with forestry and fisheries management issues in South and Southeast Asia.