

Responsible governance of tenure

Course: Addressing tenure issues in the context of natural disasters

©FAO/Ami Vitale

One of the impacts of climate change is an increase in the incidence, severity and unpredictability of natural disasters. This course explains how livelihoods and tenure rights are affected by natural disasters, and illustrates how responsible governance of tenure of land, fisheries and forests can support a disaster management process through improved prevention, mitigation, preparedness, emergency response, and recovery and reconstruction.

2 Hours

Available in English, French and Spanish

You will learn about

- Impact of natural disasters on people's tenure
- How insecure tenure increases vulnerability to natural disasters
- Responsible governance of tenure and disaster management processes
- Integrating tenure issues in prevention, mitigation, preparedness, emergency response, recovery and reconstruction

Who is the course for?

The curriculum primarily addresses “change agents” - i.e. people who can have a direct impact by introducing changes in how tenure is governed. They include national policy makers and administrators, surveyors, trainers, legal support providers, civil society and non-governmental organizations, advocacy, control and monitoring professionals.

Key partners

This course was developed under the EU-FAO Programme on “Improved Global Governance for Hunger Reduction”, funded by the European Union (EU) and implemented by FAO.

It is part of an e-learning curriculum to support the implementation of the Voluntary Guidelines on Responsible Governance of Tenure of Land, Fisheries and Forests, in the context of National Food Security.

FAO learning Center

This course is available through the FAO  learning Center.

Please visit the Center and browse our extensive catalogue in multiple languages. Register once to access over 100 titles.

All courses are available as a global public good for free.

How to access the course

1. Go to the e-learning center: www.fao.org/elearning, and select the category “Responsible governance of tenure”
2. Register and log-in with your user name and password.

 Registration is fast and easy.

This publication has been produced with the assistance of the European Union. The contents of this publication are the sole responsibility of FAO and can in no way be taken to reflect the views of the European Union.