Concept note

BACKGROUND

The FAO/OIE international conference for the Control and Eradication of PPR held in Côte d'Ivoire on 31 March-2 April 2015, recommended that FAO and OIE "develop a full-fledged PPR Global Control and Eradication Programme (GCEP)" and "establish a joint global Secretariat". In June 2015, during the 39th FAO Conference (FAO's supreme Governing body), the 194 Member Nations of the Organization endorsed the vision for PPR eradication by 2030 to be coordinated by the joint FAO-OIE Global Secretariat. The OIE Member Countries endorsed during the 84th General Session (May 2016) the list of Countries recognised as PPR free, according to the OIE Terrestrial Animal Health Code, amended in 2013 on this disease, and adopted a Resolution supporting PPR Global Control and Eradication process.

Since the Côte d'Ivoire Conference, FAO and OIE, in collaboration with regional organisations organised six Regional Roadmap Meetings. During these meetings, the following were undertaken:

1. presentation of the GCEP and its tools in a detailed manner
2. carrying out a first self-assessment of each country's situation regarding PPR and the capacity of its Veterinary Services to control the disease;
3. review of PPR projects and lessons drawn from their implementation,
4. identification of countries' and regional vision toward PPR eradication,
5. preliminary prioritisation at country and regional level of other small ruminant diseases that might be controlled and (vi) setting up the Governance structure to oversee the implementation of PPR control activities in the region.

The outcomes of the above have been reviewed during the PPR brainstorming meeting held in Nagarkot, Nepal from 13 to 14 April 2016. The brainstorming meeting discussed the formulation of the PPR Global Control and Eradication Programme (GCEP) and agreed a detailed outline of the programme. Under the coordination of the PPR Secretariat, the GCEP is being developed with the contribution of different experts constituting a Drafting Committee. The draft programme will subsequently be presented and discussed during the Peer Review Meeting.

OBJECTIVE AND EXPECTED RESULTS

The objective of this GCEP "peer review expert meeting" is to exchange views on the draft GCEP and make recommendations for further improvement and refinement. The expected result is an amended draft programme for consideration by the PPR Secretariat and finalisation of the document for submission to the FAO and OIE Management.

METHODOLOGY

The draft GCEP will be sent to the participants one week before the meeting. If deemed necessary, they will send their comments ahead of the meeting. During plenary and group sessions of the meeting, participants will discuss major components of the programme. The PPR Secretariat will take and circulate the minutes of the meeting

EXPECTED PARTICIPANTS

Expected participants will include: Representatives from countries; Regional Organisations; Experts; Civil Society organisations; ILRI; IAEA; VSF International; GALVMed; AVTA; representatives from FAO and OIE; and PPR Secretariat
