

Markets assessment and analysis

The course illustrates how markets operate and how they relate to, and affect, food security and vulnerable households. It describes market components and how they function, and introduces some of the methods and indicators used to assess markets for improving food security analysis.

 2 hours

 Available in English, French and Spanish

You will learn about

- Definition of markets and how they relate to food security.
- Methods to assess markets for improving food security analysis.
- Indicators for creating market profiles or baselines.
- Price analysis.

Who is the course for?

The target audience of this course includes: mid-level managers, technical staff, field personnel who are involved in the collection, management, analysis, and reporting of food security information, as well as, planners, policy formulators and programme managers who are involved in monitoring progress in poverty reduction, and meeting food security goals and targets.

Key partners

The course was developed in the context of the EC/FAO “Food Security Information for Action” Programme, funded by the European Union (EU), implemented by the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO).

Contributing organizations:

- The United States Agency for International Development.
- Famine Early Warning Systems Network (FEWS NET).

FAO @learning Academy

This course is available through the FAO @learning Academy.

Please visit the Academy and browse our extensive catalogue in multiple languages. Register once to access over 100 titles.

All courses are available as a global public good for free.

How to access the course

1. Go to the e-learning Academy: elearning.fao.org
2. Register and log-in with your user name and password

© FAO, 2020
CA9032EN/1/05.20

[😊] Registration is fast and easy

This publication has been produced with the assistance of the European Union. The contents of this publication are the sole responsibility of FAO and can in no way be taken to reflect the views of the European Union.