The United States supports the role of the FAO in supporting Members in their efforts to achieve their food security and nutrition efforts, working towards a goal of food security for all. The United States further recognizes the role that agricultural trade, and climate change efforts, can play in supporting food security. Similarly, the United States takes note of paragraphs 27 and 28 of the Committee on Commodities Problems report, and stresses these paragraphs contain recommendations that fall outside the mandate of the Food and Agriculture Organization. The United States underscores the respective mandates and roles of the Food and Agriculture Organization in working to achieve food security for all, the World Trade Organization as the primary institution dealing with global trade, and the U.N. Framework Convention on Climate Change as the primary international forum for considering international climate change issues. The United States believes the work of these institutions is more effective, and efficient, when their respective competences are respected."

Recalling recommendation 10 of the Second International Conference on Nutrition, ICN-2 that establishes, inter alia, the promotion of crop diversification to diversify diets;

Recognizing the important contribution of millets to the cultivation of nutritious foods in climate adverse environments;

Noting the importance of sustainable farming and production practices to the livelihoods of millions of rural farm families and small family farmers around the world;

Cognizant of the historical contribution of millets, to food security, nutrition, livelihoods and incomes of family farmers;

Concerned over the current need to invigorate market recognition of the benefits of millets and to promote efficient value chains;

Recognizing the vast genetic diversity of millets and their adaptive capacities to a range of production environments;

Recognizing the need to empower women through education, to assure the quality of family diets;

Recognizing that the observance of an International Year of Millets by the international community would contribute significantly to raising awareness of the nutritional and health benefits of millet consumption and their suitability for cultivation under adverse and changing climatic conditions, while directing policy attention to improving value chain efficiencies;

Stressing that costs for implementation of the Year and the FAO involvement will be covered by extra-budgetary resources to be identified;

Requests the Director-General to transmit this Resolution to the Secretary General of the United Nations with a view to having the General Assembly of the United Nations consider at its next session, declaring 2023 as the International Year of Millets.

Draft Resolution for the Conference

International Day of Awareness of Food Loss and Waste

THE CONFERENCE,

Considering the urgent need to raise awareness of the economic, social and environmental impacts of Food Loss and Waste (FLW) and of the need for actions to stem the problem of FLW;

Recalling that SDG target 12.3 calls for halving per capita global food waste at the retail and consumer levels and reducing food losses along production and supply chains (including post-harvest losses) by 2030;

Recognizing that high levels of FLW reduce the efficiency of the value chain, and thus the sustainability of food systems;

Recognizing that high levels of food losses, negatively impact the availability of and access to food, as well as incomes in poorer segments of society in middle- and low-income countries;

Noting that FLW are drivers of climate change and environmental degradation;

Noting that reducing FLW will also directly impact a number of other SDG Goals;

Cognizant of the urgent need to raise awareness and to educate food supply chain actors and consumers in particular, in order to bring about behaviour change toward achieving the sustained reduction of food losses and waste;

Expressing concern that current efforts to address FLW reduction are highly fragmented;

Cognizant of the critical role of the private sector in bringing about a reduction in FLW at the global level;

Recognizing that the observance of an International Day of Awareness of Food Loss and Waste would contribute significantly to raising awareness at all levels, of the need to reduce FLW and promote global efforts and collective actions toward achieving SDG target 12.3;

Stressing that costs arising from the implementation of the International Day of Awareness of Food Loss and Waste will be met by voluntary contributions, including from private sector partners;

Requests the Director General to transmit this Resolution to the Secretary-General of the United Nations with a view to having the General Assembly of the United Nations consider at its next session, declaring 29 September each year as the International Day of Awareness of Food Loss and Waste.

Draft Resolution for the Conference International Tea Day

THE CONFERENCE,

Noting that tea constitutes the main means of subsistence for millions of poor families who live in a number of least developed countries;

Noting that tea production and processing contributes to the fight against hunger (SDG 2), the reduction of extreme poverty (SDG 1), the empowerment of women (SDG 5) and the sustainable use of terrestrial ecosystems (SDG 15);

Recognizing that tea is a main source of income and export revenues for some of the poorest countries and, as a labour-intensive sector, provides jobs especially in remote and economically disadvantaged areas;

Affirming that tea can play a significant role in rural development, poverty reduction and food security in developing countries, being one of the most important cash crops;

Recalling the urgent need to raise public awareness of the importance of tea for rural development and sustainable livelihoods and to improve the tea value chain to contribute to the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development;

Reemphasizing the call from the Intergovernmental Group on Tea to direct greater efforts towards expanding demand, particularly in producing countries where per capita consumption is relatively low, and supporting efforts to address the declining per capita consumption in traditional importing countries;

Trusting that such a celebration would promote and foster collective actions to implement activities in favour of the sustainable production and consumption of tea and raise awareness of its importance in fighting hunger, malnutrition and poverty;

Stressing that the costs of activities associated with the implementation of the International Tea Day would be met through voluntary contributions, including from the private sector;

Requests the Director-General to transmit this Resolution to the Secretary-General of the United Nations, with a view to having the United Nations General Assembly (UNGA) consider it at its next session, declaring 21 May of each year as the International Tea Day.
