Population Estimates

Somalia's population estimates are estimates derived from a detailed analysis, by livelihood zone and wealth groups, of food sources, income sources, and expenditure; combined with nutritional data and other indicators as well as models used in the UNDP population report of 2005.

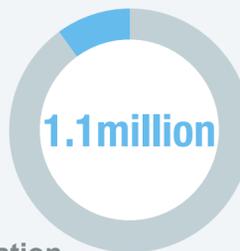

Population in Crisis & Emergency

Approximately 860,000 people are experiencing Crisis- and Emergency-level—Integrated Food Security Phase Classification (IPC 3) and IPC 4, respectively—food insecurity in Somalia, according to FSNAU, representing the lowest food insecurity levels since the 2011/2012 drought and famine crisis. FSNAU 2014.

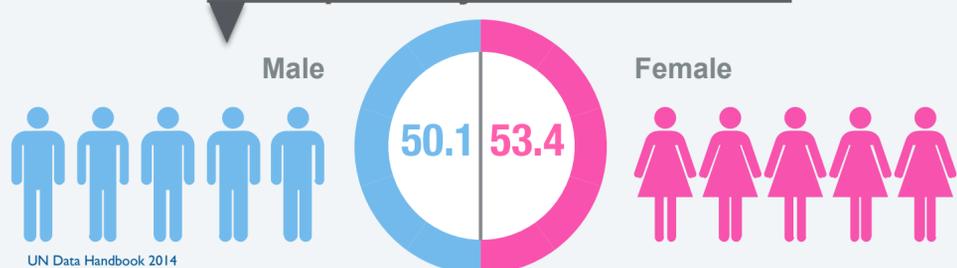

Internally Displaced Population

An estimated 1.1 million people remained internally displaced within Somalia, representing a nearly 25 percent decrease from the estimated 1.46 million people displaced at the peak of the 2011/2012 drought crisis. UNHCR 2013.
