

G20 Green Garden

On the occasion of the Italian Presidency of the G20 and as part of a multipartner initiative, visit the G20 Green Garden at Rome's famous Appia Antica Park from 10 June to 30 October. This open-air museum celebrates biodiversity, nature and Rome's ancient heritage while calling for global solidarity to create a sustainable future for 'People, Planet, Prosperity'.

Explore the 17 giant SDG cubes sprouting from the grass or admire the iconic olive tree with messages for a brighter future, all while learning how your actions can make a difference.

Over the coming months, partners of the initiative will host various events open to the public that will be dedicated to culture, art, archeology and environmental sustainability. Some events include guided tours of the Church of Saint Urban, a jewel of the Appia Antica Park, educational workshops for families at the Fruit Orchard, and an educational itinerary dedicated to students will be launched in September.
