

Codex Alimentarius RSS Feed

What is RSS?

RSS stands for Rich Site Summary and is a technology used to monitor rapidly changing information on the web in an organized and user friendly way.

It is identified by the little orange and white RSS icon  that is found all over the world on Web sites, in particular on news, blog, daily deals, government alerts and classified sites.

By posting a "feed" on their page, web site owners allow RSS readers to search their site to continuously look for fresh and new information all the while maintaining user privacy.

RSS in Outlook. How to subscribe to Codex RSS and how to receive notifications.
