Decisions agreed upon at the 25th & 26th sessions of the Codex alimentarius Commission (2003)

Proposal	24.2
Codex Document	ALINORM 03/26/11 - Add. 4
Background	15. The Commission¹ reasserted that the first priority in the development of Codex standards was the protection of consumers' health and food safety and noted that the other priorities would require further discussion in the future. 16. Several delegations supported Codex work on standards intended to ensure fair trade practices, with the understanding that only essential quality factors regulated by governments should be addressed in Codex standards while commercial quality should be left to trading partners. Several delegations and some observers stressed the importance of Codex work to ensure consumer information and choice. Other delegations expressed the view that this should not be considered in the priorities. STATEMENT : 5. Noting the Evaluation's recommendations concerning the Commission's mandate, the Commission was of the opinion that its existing mandate to protect consumers' health and to ensure fair practices in the food trade continued to be appropriate but might be discussed in the future. Within this mandate, the Commission emphasised that its first priority would be the development of standards having an impact on consumer health and safety.

Proposal	24.2
Codex Document	ALINORM 03/26/11 - Add. 4
Background	To work within the priorities determined by the Strategic Framework and the Medium-Term Plan. Such a decision should not prejudice the possibility of taking the matter up at a future date. 170. The Commission² decided that the current Codex Mandate as expressed in Article 1 of the Statutes of the Commission, should be retained but that it might be discussed in the future.

¹ At its 25th session -- see ALINORM 03/25/5

² At its 26th session -- see ALINORM 03/41

Proposal	38.1
Codex Document	ALINORM 03/26/11 - Add. 4
Background	Revision of the Criteria for the establishment of work priorities - The revised criteria should provide explicit judgement tools for assessing work proposals against priorities 182. The Commission requested the Committee on General Principles to redraft the Criteria for Work Priorities to reflect the current priorities of the Commission and in a manner that would provide explicit judgement tools for assessing work proposals against priorities.

Recommendation to the 19th session of the Codex Committee on General Principles
