Suggested Points of Intervention

Thank you Mr. Chairperson,

Indonesia notes with appreciation the final draft of the Policy Recommendations on Agroecological and Other Innovative Approaches For Sustainable Agriculture And Food Systems That Enhance Food Security And Nutrition.

From the start, we have been actively engaged with the process in constructive manner.

This draft is a result of a long, arduous process with the utmost flexibility of all stakeholders.

But the first party to be congratulated is the effective leadership of the current, and also the previous Rapporteur.

We also highly appreciate the work of all member states in the Open Ended Working Group as well as Friends of the Rapporteur, including the High Level Panel of Experts (HLPE), Civil Society Mechanism (CSM) and Private Sector Mechanism (PSM), as well as various UN Bodies and mechanisms.

Excellencies, Ladies and Gentleman,

The challenges food systems face are highly complex, context-specific and often unpredictable.

Agroecological and other innovative approaches provide a set of practices, technologies and/or methods that contribute to sustainable agriculture and food systems.

Now it is our common task to implement them in line with our national priorities. We must make these Recommendations a reality on the ground.

For that, we stand ready to work collaboratively with all relevant stakeholders. The voluntary and non-binding nature of the document, we believe, makes them more agile and adaptable to be implemented.

With the above notes, Indonesia supports the document CFS 2021/48/2 “CFS Policy Recommendations on Agroecological and Other Innovative Approaches for sustainable agriculture and food systems that enhance food security and nutrition”, to be endorsed by the CFS 48.

I thank you.
