B. RURAL, AGRICULTURAL & FISHERY CENSUS

5. CENSUS METHODOLOGY

Method of data collection: There are combinations between the classical approach & the use of registers and administrative records as sources of census data.

5.1. For the classical approach:

- Face to face interview
- The Census includes complete survey & sample survey.
- Sample survey: a sample of 75000 households in rural area (0,5% rural households) selected from 8000 EAs.
- List of EA and list of households in sample EA in rural area are taken from a 20% master sample frame of the population & housing census 2009 (updated in 2014) which will be used as sampling frame in AC 2016.

B. RURAL, AGRICULTURAL & FISHERY CENSUS

5.2. Use of registers & administrative records as sources of census data

There are some registers and administrative records will be used as sources of census data:

- Implementation of agriculture and rural programs/projects (set by the Government: at different levels (province, district...))
- implementation of VietGap criteria
- Army units engage agri. production
- Information of agri. enterprises (register...& tax office).

Questionnaires (Form 5-Form 9) are designed and sent to subject/related bodies/offices (Boards, Committees, Government office...) to fill in
