Tripartite recommendations

- Recommendations can be clustered into three main areas :
 - 1) Progressively extend of social protection coverage
 - 2) Facilitate research, assessment and development of a monitoring framework
 - 3) Ensure good governance, coordination and consultation with social partners

1) Progressively extend of social protection coverage

- Develop national policies that embrace the principles of the ILO SPF Recommendation, 2012 (No.202)
- Enhance advocacy, awareness raising and capacity building among beneficiaries and employers
- Strengthen efforts for the extension of coverage to informal and rural economy workers
- Ensure linkages with active labour market policies, including programmes for persons with disability
- Extend social protection to migrant workers
- Establish gradually universal coverage, notably health universal coverage

2) Facilitate research, assessment and development of a monitoring framework

- Conduct assessments based national dialogues on social protection in all ASEAN Member States that will constitute the baseline information to be regularly updated
- Prepare and regularly update an ASEAN report on social protection (tool for measuring progress)
- Establish and regularly report on targets, indicators and timeline for monitoring progress in extending social protection

3) Ensure good governance, coordination and consultation with social partners

- Conduct fiscal space analysis and financial capacity assessments
- Explore the single-window service approach for delivery of social services by improving availability, efficiency, integration, information systems and database and public-private partnership with service providers
- Establish national Inter-ministerial coordination bodies in charge of social protection
- Institutionalize social dialogue mechanisms
- Train social protection policy makers and officers

3) Ensure good governance, coordination and consultation with social partners (cont.)

- Prepare a database of good practices to extend social protection
- Include Social Protection in the ASEAN post-2015 vision
- Link between ASEAN economic and social integration
- Reinforce South-South exchange of expertise and explore possible bilateral social security agreements
- Reinforce the collaboration with the ASEAN Social Security Association, ILO and other UN agencies
