

Food Safety: a Right or a Privilege?

SIDE EVENT

Wednesday, 19th November 2014

13:00-14:30, Red Room (1st floor, building A), FAO

Join us to deliberate on Why food safety is an essential element of food and nutrition security. A multidisciplinary panel will address policy considerations, the health-nutrition-food safety nexus, economic perspectives, and actions and solutions.

We look forward to your participation.

Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations

World Health Organization

Programme

Simultaneous interpretation is provided in English, French and Spanish.

Moderator

Mr. Mike Wooldridge, World Affairs Correspondent for the BBC

Panelists

Dr. Rajitha Senaratne, Hon. Minister of Fisheries and Aquatic Resources Development, Sri Lanka

Dr. Romano Marabelli, Secretary General - Ministry of Health, Italy and Honorary President of the OIE

Dr. Knut-Inge Klepp, Director, Public Health Division, Norwegian Directorate for Health

Ambassador Mary S. Mubi, Senior Principal Director in the Office of the President and Cabinet, Govt of Zimbabwe and former Permanent Representative of the Government of Zimbabwe to FAO, WFP and IFAD

Mr. Dave Crean, Global Vice President, Corporate Research and Development, Mars, Incorporated

Dr. Laurian Unnevehr, Professor Emerita, Agricultural and Consumer Economics, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, US

A light lunch will be served before the event at 12:30, Second Floor, Building A. The event will be recorded.