

Session 6

One Health in Europe and Central Asia – Regional Priority 2

This session will focus on the One Health approach in its complexity, including animal and environmental health in Europe and Central Asia, keeping in mind the main goal of preventing and limiting disease transmission, within and between countries but also between animal species (i.e. livestock, poultry, humans and wildlife).

A moderated panel discussion will explore the main challenges of and the support needs for implementing the One Health approach among members and non-state actors in the region.

Members and non-state actors are invited to provide their views and expectations on the implementation of the One Health approach in the region, considering the human, livestock and environment sectors. The discussion should reflect on addressing Regional Priority 2.

(background document)