

Ms. Shuhao Tan

Shuhao Tan is an associate professor of Renmin University of China. She graduated from Development Economics Department, Wageningen University for PhD; from Land Use Management College for Msc, and Resource and Environmental College, Nanjing Agricultural University for Bsc. Her main research fields include “Natural resource management and rural development”, “Land institutions, policies and management”. She has been involved in several international projects such as the Sino-Dutch “Sustainable Resource Use in Rural China: Institutions, Policies and Markets” and EU “Trade Liberalization, Agricultural Incentives & Soil Degradation in Developing Countries”. She is now chairing a project funded by Ford Foundation.