

Ms. Svetlana Boincean

Svetlana Boincean is the International Union of Food workers (IUF), agricultural coordinator for Eastern Europe and the Central Asia region and has been working for the IUF since 2005. She coordinates agricultural workers activities in the region, develop policies and implement action plans with agricultural unions on improving working and living standards of agricultural workers, with the special focus on migrant workers, elimination of child labor, gender equality, occupational health and safety and food security. She is also a member of the Coordination Committee for the Civil Society Mechanism in the Committee on World Food Security (CFS).

She holds a Master's Degree in Labor Policies and Globalization from the University of Kassel and Berlin School of Economics, Germany. She is the author of IUF handbook "Workers and Unions on the Move: Organizing and Defending Migrant Workers in Agriculture and Allied Sectors".