

The Bay of Bengal Programme's (BOBP) 1994 calendar features various projects It has undertaken during its second phase, 1987-1993.

The crayon illustrations by E. Amalore and watercolours by S. Jayaraj, both artists In BOBP's information anit in Madras, capture the highlights of the work the Programme has been associated with, ranging from Extension activities to FishIng Technology, Aquaculture, Post-harvest Fisheries and Bloeconomlcs projects.

The Bay of Bengal Programme (BOBP) is a multiagency regional fisheries programme which covers seven countries around the Bay of Bengal — Bangladesh, India, Indonesia, Malaysia, Maldives, Shri Lanka and Thailand. The Programme plays a catalytic and consultative role: it develops, demonstrates and promotes new technologies, methodologies and Ideas to help improve the conditions of small-scale fisherfolk communities In member countries. The BOBP is sponsored by the governments of Denmark, Sweden and the united Kingdom, and also by UNDP (anited Nations Development Programme). The main executing agency is the FAO (Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations).
