4. Distribution list:

The ASFA-DGB Centre receives one copy of the ASFA CD-ROM for use in its library; we also have access to CSA's Internet Database Service for all the University buildings in the central campus and also in of-campus facilities.

5. Usefulness:

ASFA is among the five most consulted databases at UNAM and it is also highly appreciated in all the marine and fishing research institutions of Mexico, the importance of ASFA and of the Mexico collaborating centre is recognized in different events organized by the UNAM and also by other educational, research or governmental institutions. Noteworthy, is the participation of this centre in the national project e-México which intends to connect the educational and governmental institutions of this country and put information resources available to professionals, students and people in general.

6. Monitoring list:

There were no changes to the monitoring list

7. Development:

We continued with the revision of the inputs realized by the Ecuador centre.
