End of the year claims are being sent out

FBL has started recalling library items which are currently on loan. If you have any books, journals or other publications on loan, you will receive a standard message from us asking you to return them to the library. If you want to continue using some of the items, please contact the library in order to get them reissued.

Did we include your article?

We make every effort to include all articles by Departmental staff members published in external journals and books. In case we have missed your contribution, please send the references to the Library, also for inclusion in our Library update. As last year, for COFI 2014 we will add them to the List of publications and documents.

Kindly have a look at the lists for 2012 and 2013 and let us know if there's anything missing!
